Problem 1. How many non-degenerate triangles have all sides of integer length and perimeter of 100? (Two such triangles are considered different if and only if they are not congruent.)